Behind the bureau stood S. W. Sears, the commissioner, whose efforts to secure justice from the railroads were little short of herculean. The suit prepared by him, with the history of which the public is familiar, was in itself a gigantic task, and although it was withdrawn to secure the conterence, still the record made by the bureau and its commissioner naturally made the rapidle look to them. naturally made the public look to them for protection against further injustice.

Against Mr. Adams personally, so word can be said. He is a gentleman, and is as thoroughly familiar with the needs of this region as any man in it. It is the common understanding, however, that he is and has been for years the confidential agent of the Union Pacific. Hence, his appointment will strike the average business man as a most remarkable one.

Prior to his sentence Anthony Barker argued a motion for a new trial, but the motion was overruled. Gibbons has hitnerto borne a good reputation, and whon he declared yesterday morning that it such persons were not eligible to vote on the question of a sight, they certainly were not cligible to vote on the obscuring. It resulted in another meeting being held on Friday night, the object being to consider the advisability of securing counsel and having the trustees an olioned from issuing bonds.

After some discussion, however, the whole matter was, on motion of 8. W. Sears, referred to a committee of three to consuit with the trustees and look into the legality of the proceedings already taken and if necessary to order another election on the site and in this way arrive at an amicable understanding. Pacific is now equipping all its passenger trains with the Pintsch gas light and steam heaters.
